Gangs of Hardened Criminals Preying on Bootleggers' Caches

TORONTO, Ont., June 20.—Rival bootlegging gangs are warring on the Niagara frontier and both American and Canadian officials charged with enforcement of liquor laws have been enabled to make numerous arrests on anonymous tips received from the smugglers themselves.

Their action is the aftermath of the resignation of President Alexander Meiklejohn yesterday at the request of the trustees.

As Bolton-Smith ascended the platform to receive his degree he said to Dr. Meiklejohn:

DANIEL E. HOGAN RESIGNS FROM BOARD OF ASSESSORS—SENDS RESIGNATION TO MAYOR

Daniel E. Hogan, a member of the board of assessors for the past 11 years and its chairman for two years, has tendered his resignation to Mayor John J. Donovan, the resignation to take effect immediately upon the election and qualification of his successor. Mr. Hogan's reason for resigning his position is that he wishes to devote his entire time and effort to his real estate and fire insurance business.

Mr. Hogan's letter of resignation to the mayor was as follows:

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The purchase of the interest of my former partner, in the business of the late firm of Collins & Hogan, necessitates the giving of my entire time and effort to that business, which I shall hereafter carry on in my own name and on my sole and separate account.

I, therefore, tender my resignation, as a member of the board of assessors of the city of Lowell, the same to take effect immediately upon the election and qualification of my successor.

With regret I leave the office, the remaining capable and efficient members of the board and the attached therein, their unselfish endeavors to make a success of my administration as chairman of the board. I shall long retain as one of the pleasant memories of my many years at city hall.

Thanking you, Mr. Mayor, for the uniform courtesy and consideration,

Two persons were prostrated and thousands of others suffered severely today as an intense heat wave continued to hold the city in a fiery grasp. All public schools suspended afternoon sessions and employees of the city park department were sent home at 11 a. m. for the balance of the day. Business was practically at a standstill.

At 10.30 o'clock an ambulance call was sent in for Joseph Laurier, 181 Charles street, who collapsed near the corner of Andover and Perry streets. He was taken to his home. At 12.30 the ambulance was called to the railroad station and took a woman to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was said there was no information regarding her identity as she was still in an unconscious condition.

Decision to suspend afternoon sessions of the schools was reached by Superintendent Hugh J. Moller early in the forenoon when it was seen that the heat was unusually severe in class rooms all over the city, with scores of children showing ill effects because of it.

Occasionally a limpid breeze brought temporary relief, but on the whole the day was practically unbearable. It started out with a temperature of 50 degrees at 7 o'clock, or just 10 degrees higher than at the same hour yesterday morning. Hourly the mercury climbed until it reached 86, 87 and even 88 degrees at 3 o'clock. At that hour in the square, on the big thermometer on Page's clock, the mercury stood at 85. Although early indications were for a day hotter than yesterday, the maximum temperature was substantially the same.

The 11 a.m. reading of 94 was taken when the rays of the sun were reaching the thermometer on a slant, a rise and fall of three degrees being noticed between 10 o'clock and high noon, or before and after the sun touched the bulb.

It was difficult to find any relief from the heat last night, it being particularly severe in congested districts. Fire companies flushed many streets and cooled off red hot pavements and brought a little bit of heaven to hundreds of youngsters, but it was not a night conducive to restful slumber and at least half the city still was wide awake long after midnight.

Today's weather forecast does not mention showers and gives no hope for immediate relief, at least.

SENIOR CLASS DAY AT THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Senior Class Day was fittingly observed at the State Normal school today with the usual features making up an interesting program that started at 2 o'clock and will continue well into the evening.

The exercises were opened by Beatrice Devine, president of the class and master of ceremonies for the day. Miss Emma M. Ramsay, of the faculty, was the honorary member of this year's class. The class history was read by the Misses Catherine Sullivan, Sarah Lyons and Annabelle Bresnahan. Senior 1 then sang their senior song and followed this the class statistics were read by Miss Elaine Mallikan, Miss Mildred Brenner and Miss Mary Sheridan. Following the

Stern Measures to Crush
Rum Runners Using Long Island as Base

SOUTHAMPTON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The White Star liner Olympic sailed today for New York with wine stocks aboard for the return journey placed in a special storeroom with four seals of the British customs service on the door. The seals are encased in brass boxes which in turn are locked. The intention of the White Star line is to keep the stocks under seal all the time the ship is in American territorial waters. If the American authorities do not break the seals and confiscate the stocks, the ship's officials will open the stores after the vessel has passed the three mile limit on her return voyage. The Olympic is the first vessel to adopt this procedure.

Pitched Battles

NEW YORK, June 20.—Stern measures to crush rum runners using Long Island as a base of operations, were planned today by federal prohibition authorities. A "mopping up" was directed on after reports of two pitched battles, in which deputy sheriffs and police exchanged shots with gangs of runners.

Small towns in Long Island, the federal authorities were informed, are being used by landing parties for runners playing to and from the off shore rum fleet.

John Barrett of the Central council of the Ancient Order of Hibernians housing corporation, announces that there will be a meeting of all tenants now using the Hibernian hall on Middle street, in the building tomorrow night. All parties interested in the Hibernian hall are requested to be present as the housing committee has secured new quarters in the Grosvenor building, and it is to explain the terms of the new lease that the meeting is called. The Hibernians will take charge of their new quarters July 1. Mr. Barrett states that the change in quarters does not mean that plans for a home for the order have been abandoned, but will continue until a satisfactory place has been found.

Irresistible to the

His Orchestra have made in "The World Is Wait-

all his numbers; and
through it runs a fox-trot
rhythm smooth as silk,
resistless as the sea.

When the final encore

MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL IN 50-50 SPLIT ON MATTER OF VETOES

Council Over-rides Veto of $7500 Transfer Order For Sanitary Improvements at Two Schools, But Votes to Sustain Mayor on His Disapproval of $9000 Order For Paving in Lawrence Street—Daly Criticizes His Honor's Financial Policy

The city council and the mayor split 50-50 last night, with most of the advantage with His Honor, however, because he did not have to sit through a session of three hours and wonder if all the heat in the universe was imprisoned within the aldermanic chamber.

The even-Stephen break came in relation to mayoralty vetoed on orders for improved sanitary conditions at Moody and Sycamore street schools for refusing to allow money to be transferred from the prior revenue or surplus credit account, with a city debt of back-breaking proportions already being borne. He doubted the economic soundness of the mayor's contention and bluntly said so. He likened the city to an individual and said it is not good business to borrow money for necessities when surplus cash is available.

Mr. Daly won his point on the sanitary-improvements order, while the council voted 10 to 3 to over-ride the veto, but lost out on the paving question when the mayor's disapproval was endorsed, with seven votes to sustain and six to over-ride, with two councilors absent. A two-thirds vote is necessary.

Meeting In Detail

When President Gallagher called the meeting to order, Councilors McFadden, Chadwick and Cosgrove were absent; Councilor Chadwick came in later.

Rep. Henry Acheson, Jr., appeared as a representative to a proposed pole location in Fletcher street, opposite No. 286. He represented owners of property in that neighborhood. He said the pole already was in place, he believed, illegally, and he asked it be ordered removed.

The petition was referred to the board of public service.

There were remonstrants and proponents to a petition of the Electric Light corporation for the erection of a pole in Smith avenue. Referred to Councilor Cameron and a representative of the petitioning corporation.

Attorney George Allard, representing property owners in 19th street, appeared in remonstrance to a petition of the N. E. Tel. Co. for the erection of five poles in that street. Miss Gilman of 19th street spoke in favor. The petition was referred to representatives of the public service corporation involved and Councilor Frank K. Stearns of Ward 1.

No Depot At Jail

A letter was received from F. W. Brown, local passenger agent for the Boston & Maine railroad, informing the city of the decision of representatives of the company that the Lowell jail would not be suited for reconstruction into a depot and expressing regret at being forced to turn down the proposition as advanced by the city council and discussed with S. E. Miller, general passenger agent, by a special committee including Councilors Daly, Cosgrove and Sadlier.

Following a favorable report by Councilor McFadden, to whom the matter had previously been referred, the council voted to approve a petition of Williams Bros. for a gas pump in Porter street, and will await a report from the chief of the fire department before taking definite action. Councilor Stearns recommended granting a petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for the erection of one pole in Beech street and such a recommendation accompanied the petition when it was referred to the board of public service.

Councilor Sadlier moved leave to withdraw in the matter of a petition from the Electric Light Corp. for a pole location in Lyon street, and it was so voted.

Following a favorable recommendation from Councilor Moriarty, a petition of the Electric Light Corp. for the erection of a pole in Rogers street was referred to the public service board.

Daly's Orders Under Fire

On motion of Councilor Daly the mayor's veto of the $7500 transfer order for sanitary improvements at the Moody and Sycamore street schools, was taken from the table.

Commenting upon the vetoes of the order in question and the $9000 order for paving a portion of Lawrence street, Councilor Daly said the mayor seems intent on borrowing more money for the conduct of municipal affairs when there is surplus cash to the city's credit.

"The city already is carrying all the debt burden it can bear," he declared, "and I believe it is sound economics to use money available rather than to borrow more and burden higher taxation upon the people of the city."

Councilor Genest favored the passage of the order and said he felt the work contemplated should be done during the summer vacation season when the schools are closed.

Councilor Lambert raised the question of legality and in reply Councilor Daly said the mayor has not raised the question of necessity and in his opinion, passage over the veto would be legal.

Pres. Gallagher raised the question of appropriating for a matter previously considered while compiling the annual budget, but left out in the mayor's recommendation. Councilor Daly said he feels this is a specific case and can be handled legally as contemplated by the transfer from the prior revenue account.

On a roll call vote the order was passed over the mayor's veto, 10 votes to three. Councilors in favor were: Daly, McFadden, Chretien, Genest, Lambert, Stearns, Sadlier, Moriarty, Chadwick and Fitzgerald. Voting to uphold the mayor were Councilors Cameron, Gallagher and Hennessy.

With this order out of the way, Councilor Daly moved that the mayor's veto of the $9000 order for paving a portion of Lawrence street, also be taken from the table.

Councilor Daly also led the proponents of this order and urged its passage.

Councilor Chretien favored the pavement desired in Lawrence street.

Mayor John J. Donovan replied to the request forwarded him on motion of Councilor Sadlier that he explain how he justified the reappointment of Patrolman Peter Tanfaras with his previous statement about not being willing to approve larger payrolls for the police department.

The communication stated that Tanfaras was reappointed to the regular force on recommendation of the superintendent of police and that his salary will be paid out of the original appropriation of the department.

Councilor Sadlier made no reply to the mayor's letter, declaring the officer in question was reappointed on the mayor's recommendation instead of the police superintendent's. He said the reappointment of this officer prevents young men from becoming patrolmen and makes it more difficult for a supernumerary officer to reach the regular force.

The order appropriating $3500 to the elections department to care for increased salaries for election commissioners was read, but no action taken. On motion of Councilor Sadlier the council voted to meet again next Tuesday night, at which time it is planned to settle the elections department controversy.

The council acted favorably upon a resolution introduced by Councilor Fitzgerald, by which the body went on record as being opposed to the removal of the veterans' bureau sub-station from Lawrence to Boston. It was voted to forward a copy of the resolution to Director-General Hines, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Washington, D. C.

President James J. Gallagher and Councilor Frank K. Stearns entertained for half an hour with interest.

but felt it was a permanent improvement and should be financed in the usual way by a loan.

Mayor's Veto Sustained

The mayor's veto was overwhelmingly sustained on a roll call vote when Councilors Gallagher, Cameron, Stearns, Genest, Chretien, Lambert and Hennessy voted against the passage of the order. The six councilors in favor of passage over the veto were: Daly, Sadlier, Fitzgerald, McFadden, Moriarty and Chadwick. Two councilors were absent.

Councilor Daly gave notice of reconsideration.

City Solicitor Patrick J. Reynolds had a communication before the council in reply to request made of him for an interpretation of Section 33 Chapter 44 of the General Laws as it applies to the legality of the council's action in passing the $10,000 additional police order over the mayor's veto. The law department head quoted at some length from a decided supreme court case concerning the city of Taunton and could not find that the council was within its rights in voting an appropriation for something that already had been considered and turned down during annual budget deliberations and subsequent recommendations. The latter was read and placed on file.

Tanfaras Matter Discussed

Mayor John J. Donovan replied to the request forwarded him on motion of Councilor Sadlier that he explain how he justified the reappointment of Patrolman Peter Tanfaras with his previous statement about not being willing to approve larger payrolls for the police department.

The communication stated that Tanfaras was reappointed to the regular force on recommendation of the superintendent of police and that his salary will be paid out of the original appropriation of the department.

Councilor Sadlier made no reply to the mayor's letter, declaring the officer in question was reappointed on the mayor's recommendation instead of the police superintendent's. He said the reappointment of this officer prevents young men from becoming patrolmen and makes it more difficult for a supernumerary officer to reach the regular force.

The order appropriating $3500 to the elections department to care for increased salaries for election commissioners was read, but no action taken. On motion of Councilor Sadlier the council voted to meet again next Tuesday night, at which time it is planned to settle the elections department controversy.

The council acted favorably upon a resolution introduced by Councilor Fitzgerald, by which the body went on record as being opposed to the removal of the veterans' bureau sub-station from Lawrence to Boston. It was voted to forward a copy of the resolution to Director-General Hines, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Washington, D. C.

President James J. Gallagher and Councilor Frank K. Stearns entertained for half an hour with interest.

The Health Doctor Says:

Anything soiled by contact with many hands is a menace to health. There's protection—constant use of Lifebuoy Soap which really purifies the skin.

"If they could always be safe from dirt"

Freshly tubbed, the soft flush of slumber glowing against snowy linen—wouldn't it be wonderful if your babies were always as safe—never exposed to the menace of dirt?

Yet tomorrow they will touch and tousele a hundred dangerously dirty things—stray animals, unclean playmates, the fruit of peddlers. Dirty hands carry these dangers to nose, mouth and food. Germ-laden street dust will grind into chubby knees and palms.

How can you—the mother—the "Health Doctor"—guard these precious lives?

In just one way—by keeping them clean—scientifically clean.

Lifebuoy Purifies

And please don't mistake mere perfumed daintiness for the honest, wholesome, pore cleansing purity that results from vigorous use of Lifebuoy Health Soap. Lifebuoy does more than remove surface grime. Its rich, creamy lather releases a wonderful antiseptic ingredient which is carried down deep into every pore, combating the health foes ever present in dirt.

The pungent odor of Lifebuoy tells you that it is more than soap—that it is a genuine health protector—a skin purifier. The odor vanishes but the protection remains.

Yet Lifebuoy is as pure and bland and skin beautifying as any soap ever made. Its pure oil of palm fruit and coconut oil are soothing and healing, especially to a baby's petal skin.

Palm fruit oil is red, so Lifebuoy is red.

For the protection of your children and husband, place a cake of Lifebuoy wherever there is running water—and see that it is used frequently. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Four Priests and a Lay Official of Engleberg, Ark., Church Wounded

Mysterious Shotgun Attack After Church Conference and Social Affair

POCAHONTAS, Ark., June 20.—Four priests and a lay official of the Engleberg Catholic church, near here, were wounded in a mysterious shotgun attack in the home of one of the priests Monday night, after a church conference was concluded with a social affair.

Burtin Knott, 29, of the Engleberg neighborhood, is in jail here where he was brought by deputy sheriffs, shortly after the shooting. His companion, Henry Daniels, who, with Knott and Daniels' younger brother, was suspected of being a member of the party which fired into the pastor's home, was released on $200 bond to await preliminary hearing. The younger Daniels was released shortly after his arrest.

Joe Bruner, lay official of the Engleberg church and the most severely injured of the five, is in a Jonesboro hospital where his numerous wounds are being treated. The four priests who were struck by the gunfire are: Father Herringer, Engleberg, pastor.

Father Straussner, of Jonesboro. Father Heffinger of Paragould. Father Froitzheim of Pocahontas.

A fusillade of shots splintered the house entering the window and striking the men who were gathered around a table checking reports received at the church conference.

Go get this free tube and use it
Then watch it combat the film on teeth

This is to people who are missing benefits which millions now enjoy.

There is a new way of teeth cleaning. It is used by careful people of some 50 nations, largely by dental advice.

It means whiter, prettier teeth, better tooth protection. It means fighting the teeth's enemies more effectively.

Your dealer will give you a ten-day test. Go ask him for it. Test this new method now.

Don't leave that film

You can feel on your teeth a viscous film. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush, used in old ways, has left much of it intact. That's why so many had dingy teeth, decay and other troubles.

Food stains, etc., discolor film. Then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. That is why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That was almost universal.

Germans breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. And that became alarmingly common.

Their greatest enemy

Film was the teeth's chief enemy. Very few escaped its harm. So dental science long sought ways to fight it. Eventually two ways were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was perfected to apply them twice a day. That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Now it has come into world-wide use, largely by dental advice.

New in several ways

Pepsodent brings other new effects which research proves essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Old-time tooth pastes brought just opposite effects. They reduced these natural tooth-protecting agents.

Pepsodent
P.E.C. U.S.
The New-Day Dentifrice

A scientific tooth paste based on modern research, free from harmful grit. Now advised by dentists the world over, because of its unique effects.

To millions of homes these new effects are bringing a new dental era—a new conception of what clean teeth mean. If you have not learned those benefits as yet, go now and find them out. To you and yours they mean far more than you will care to miss.

Far prettier teeth

You see them everywhere

Look about you. Note how teeth now glisten—teeth which once were dim. Mark how much those glistening teeth add to beauty and to charm.

Those whiter teeth come from fighting film. And they mean safer teeth as well. This delightful test will show you how to get them.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

One week will bring you new conceptions of what clean teeth mean. Cut out coupon now.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

NEW PARKING LIGHT LAW

Lowell motorists are reminded that a new parking light law becomes effective next month. Some of our very best citizens who "drive their own" may have overlooked the commonwealth's latest admonition about the motor car.

On July 20, motor drivers will be allowed to park their cars and shut off their headlights at night, provided they have a parking light showing on their cars. The legislature amended the light laws making this permissible.

At the same time, it is not a mandatory law, for no driver will be required to equip a car with a parking light. That may help some, for more than one automobile owner and out-going rambler has felt for some time that the state was sort of picking upon motor car proprietors to a rather annoying extent in the way of motor car regulations for this and that.

Brother Goodwin, who never sleeps, informs us, however, that the new parking light law is for those "who wish to equip a car with the accessory outlined. If the new lights are not installed, the headlights must be kept burning. Many owners of motor vehicles have already equipped them with the smaller lights, as is well known.

The old theory that a car may be left on a side street at night with lights on, is no longer fashionable, for the supreme court some time ago decided that all cars at night, if parked anywhere on a highway, are compelled to have their headlights burning and the rear red light shining. Night sponsors would do well to remember that the new parking light, if used, must show on the side nearer the center of the road. And it must be a white light.

NASHUA THE RECALCITRANT

Boldly the municipality of Nashua defies the powers that control the great state-at-large. On Monday daylight saving went into effect and many a Nashua's clock was set one hour ahead to conform with the daylight saving law now in force in this state. The aldermen of Nashua several times defeated the daylight saving proposition, but finally decided to adopt it.

Nashua's have been asked to set their clocks ahead and keep them there until Sept. 30 next. It is now the only community in New Hampshire to adopt daylight saving and expressly against the will of the people-at-large, at that, for the New Hampshire legislature voted heavily against daylight saving, and because several times favored the Massachusetts method of obtaining an extra hour of daylight in the summer months, voted to publish all communities who violated the legislative mandate.

But there is a joker attached to the New Hampshire regulation, and Nashua's are swimming along the municipal line with all sails set and all smiles for putting something over on the "up-staters." For although there is a so-called fine of $500 for breaking standard time, the fine would have to come through the municipal court, unless taken to the higher court, and that would mean that Nashua would pay the fine into the municipal court, which later would turn the money thus obtained into the Nashua city treasury. As Nashua's are now calling it, taking money out of one pocket and putting into another.

PARTRIDGES INCREASING

Members of the Lowell Fish and Game association inform us—and they are not the only ones to do so, by the way—that the number of partridges in Massachusetts and nearby states, notably New Hampshire, has grown rapidly during the past five years under the protection of the increased interest from sportsmen's clubs.

During the past two or three years, tillers of the soil have complained freely of the heavy damage done to various crops by the partridge. An untold quantity of apple buds, for instance, has been eaten in the late months of winter by partridges, who are fast becoming fond of apple tree "meats." Never before have partridges been known to subsist extensively upon fruit buds, until recent years. Farmers claim the partridges, as well as other wild game, have acquired the taste for the tender buds, and particularly like them and make ravages on farm land fruit trees, when the snow lies heavily upon the buds and other tidbits are covered.

Last year both in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, partridges did great damage to apple trees by going on the bud shoots, destroying, of course, the growing prospects of full harvests that many farmers depend upon to swell their bank accounts. The result of this havoc on the part of increasing swarms of partridges has been a highly aroused farmers and sportsmen, and there are chances of a growing breach between the tillers of the soil and the sportsmen, unless the latter come to the prompt aid of the former and distribute some of their boasted and well known benevolence in the proper direction.

THAT AMOSKEAG SHUT-DOWN

Information dribbling sparsely from the headquarters of the Amoskeag Mills corporation, Manchester, N. H., indicates that future conditions in the cotton textile industry in the New Hampshire city are anything but not so bland and assuring. The recent announcement by Amoskeag that the cotton department would shut down on June 29 next, for a period of two weeks, is not an alarming statement, nor does it indicate any taste on the part of the Manchester corporation to curtail production extensively.

As a matter of fact, The Sun is informed that this two weeks' vacation for the cotton machinery operators simply takes the place of the annual

Unnecessary Disclosure

A young woman was troubled with a boil on her knee, which grew so bad that she thought it necessary to call in a doctor. She disliked the family physician, so her father suggested several others, and finally said he would call in another doctor who passed the house every day. They kept a sharp lookout for him, and when he came along he was called in. The young woman modestly showed him the disabled member. The little man looked at it and said: "Why, that's pretty bad." "Well," she said, "what must I do?" "If I were you," he said, "I would send for a doctor. I'm a plans tuner."

Rat and Cheese

"Can't I help patch up the quarrel between you and Fludd?" What has he done?" asked the would-be arbitrator. "Well, I hear he has been calling me some ugly names," explained the other. "What names?" asked the friend. "I don't know." The mutual friend said he would go and find out and come back with a report. He came back, but was evidently reluctant to repeat what he knew. "Well, what did he call me?" inquired the party of the first part. "The young rat," he said. "The other man said, unobviously, 'Called me a rat, did he? Then let him look out the big piece of cheese.'"

Wife's Little Secret

Once on a time in the United States a youngster ran into the house to his mother carrying a headed box. The child said he had found the bag in the automobile which his papa had been driving the night before. It was a strange bag. It contained a sum of money. The wife took the money, called a man friend and the two had a theatre party, dinner, candy and a good time generally, with plenty of money and such fun. To this day the maid in the household carries a beautiful headed bag given to her by her mistress. The husband does not know the secret, but the headed box and whoever lost it, but then it is something else again—Indianapolis News.

Dining Under Compulsion

Two farmers, Smith and Brown, had adjoining farms. Brown had just moved in and did not know his neighbor. Going over his farm he discovered a crow eating his corn, and not knowing it was Smith's pet crow, shot it. Smith, hearing the shot, rushed out, and upon discovering his dead crow he picked up Brown's gun and forced him to eat a few mouthfuls of the crow. When he thought he had punished Brown sufficiently, he laid down the gun and said they would call it square. Brown immediately picked up the gun and compelled Smith to eat the same amount of the crow. The next day the two met at the home of a third neighbor, who remarked: "I suppose you two gentlemen are acquainted?" "O, yes," replied Brown, "we dined together yesterday."—Hartington Hawkeye.

The English

The English are a curious folk. They say they are, won't you? Suppose to speak our language. They are so seldom so I changed to meet with Jones. Says Jones: A Londoner one day while waiting for the city train All down B roads was I said, "Come take a stroll with me." The car was late, "the train," said he, "And I could wait an instant by the clock, my boy." "Your trip," said I. A servant station first passed we, "Thank," I remarked, "petrol," said he. A railway man went lumbering by. "A very," said he, "to reach," said I. I stumbled over what had been a very good offer, "said I. "I take," he said, "of pill," said I. "I have," he said, "extra petrol," said I. He shouted "petrol," instead. Then he took a look some way from me. My pants, I said, "trousers," said he. The English are a curious race, and say they are, won't you?—Los Angeles Express.

It is no easy task, according to Court Officer Matt McLean, taking prisoners from the local guard-house to the state farm in Bridgewater. You will probably agree with him after perusing the following itinerary: From Market street to the Middlesex street depot, to Boston, across the city via elevated to the South station, walk 15 minutes to Bridge water, and finally the star farm. Besides the monotony of this journey to one making it several times a month there are the various whims of the prisoners with which to contend. The return home, all by one's self, is much more pleasant, think we.

LADIES BANQUETED BY DRAMATIC CLUB

A dinner in honor of the ladies of the cast in "The Witching Hour" was tendered by the dramatic club of the Knights of Columbus in Marie's restaurant last evening, and notwithstanding a torrid atmosphere, hardly conducive to indoor entertainings, it was a delightful affair indeed. A feast fit for the kings was served at 7 o'clock, followed by a happy program of songs, stories and speeches. Mrs. E. Bromley-Shepard and Miss Lillian Chaloux were guests of honor at the affair and enjoyed the fun.

Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien, chairman of the dramatic committee, was toastmaster and with his accustomed grace, presided over the affair admirably. Thomas J. Beane, director of the work of the dramatic club and spoke at length on the part played by each individual in bringing the affair to a successful climax. There were songs by Thomas Delmore, Timothy Finnegan, Mrs. Alice Dancy Delmore, Daniel S. O'Brien, William Howard and Edw. F. Slattery Jr. readings by Miss Mary Casey, Miss Hilda Noonan, James B. Coughlin and William P. Thornton. Remarks were made by Edward W. Gallagher, Charles J. Landers, Joseph Duffy, Eugene Fontaine, Charles P. Smith and John T. Burns. There were choruses, and between the courses many little incidents in connection with preparations for the play, were brought out. It was about 10 o'clock when the affair was brought to a close. Miss Lillian Chaloux was the toastmaster and Charles J. Landers, the emcee.

TROOPS CALLED TO HALT MOB

One Man Killed and Many
Wounded When Mob
Stormed Savannah Jail

Negro Charged With Attack
on White Woman Under
Heavy Guard

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—One man was killed and an unknown number wounded early today when a crowd of more than 2000 persons assembled about the jail where Walter Lee, negro youth, charged with an attack upon a white woman, is guarded. State guardsmen, mounted machine guns firing their rifles in the air, ordered the mob after appeals of officers and stream of water from high pressure fire hose failed to disperse the assemblage.

O. Claude Parker, Jr., the man killed, was shot in the abdomen as the mob closed in on the jail. George Hart was seriously wounded, and Chief of Police Hendry was struck by a brick.

The mob formed at midnight, when word spread that Lee was being held in the city jail. Sheriff Merritt W. Dixon tried to disperse the gathering and falling, had city firemen turn water on the mob from six lines of hose. The mob retaliated by hurling bricks at the firemen.

Meanwhile the troops were called out by Mayor Seabrooks. A detachment of machine gunners took position and there was some firing from rifles when a section of the mob closed in. The guardsmen then pushed the crowd back two squares from the jail, and shortly afterward the crowd dispersed.

CATANIA, Italy, June 20.—(By the Associated Press) Some of the latest reports from the countryside stricken by Mount Etna's eruption give rise to the hope that the fury of the mountain may have passed its period of greatest intensity. However, the situation is generally regarded here as being practically unchanged with the mighty stream of lava tearing slowly but inevitably upon Linguaglossa.

During the night the mouth of the crater was enlarged by a renewal of the terrible convulsions. The lava has now submerged the station at Cerna and blocks the road between Castiglione and Linguaglossa.

The quantity of ashes emitted by the crater is now more abundant than ever. It resembles gray face powder, covering everything, penetrating everywhere, and burying the entire landscape under a powdery blanket.

One by one the little towns that cling to the mountain's outermost flanks have been evacuated, their inhabitants fleeing with such of their household possessions as they can carry. However, the roads to the towns more remote from Etna are strewn with the possessions of the fleeing villagers, who weakened by

ANNUAL REUNION AT THE MANNING MANSE

The old Manning Manse in Billerica threw open its doors and welcomed those of Manning blood at the 24th annual reunion of the Manning Association Monday afternoon. And the Mannings came in all sorts of contraptions, in autos and on foot.

It was a great reunion. Lunch was served in the old barn, more of a museum than a barn with its reminders on the walls of the days of oxen and saddle bags. The lunch was prepared by Mrs. Edwin Maxwell and Mrs. Louise Howard.

The Collier orchestra rendered music for dancing during the afternoon. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Board of trustees, Herbert M. Bacon, Newton; Henry M. Garlick, Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. Leroy Parkhurst, Chelmsford; Earl G. Manning, Boston; and Warren H. Manning, North Billerica; president, Henry M. Garlick, Youngstown, Ohio; vice-president, Herbert M. Bacon, Newton; treasurer, Mrs. Louise Howard, Chelmsford; secretary, custodian, Warren H. Manning, North Billerica; historian, William H. Manning, West Somerville; entertainment committee, Mrs. E. D. Dinslow, Roxford; Mrs. F.

Collier, Billerica; Miss Marion Manning, Bedford; Miss Elizabeth Warren, Chelmsford; reception committee, units.

HAD LUNCH AT HIGH SCHOOL CAFETERIA

A luncheon was served last evening in the cafeteria of the new high school building to the principals of the local grammar, primary and continuation schools, Supt. Hugh J. Molloy, Health Officer Henry H. Harris, and Superintendent Frederick R. Woodward of the high school by the home economics department of the school.

The purpose of the affair was to show the guests what the students of the school may have for luncheon every day and the courses served last night were made up of articles exactly the same as those served at the recesses and at the close of school.

The affair was under the direction of Miss Marie G. Brasco, supervisor of the home economics course and she was assisted by Mrs. Catherine Keene, Miss Josephine Tamplin, Mrs. Mary M. Lynch and Mrs. Mary T. Lynch.

At the close of the luncheon, Miss Driscoll was complimented highly on the quality of the food served and the variety offered.

HANDLING SPECIAL DELIVERY MAIL

The postoffice department has recently ordered a change in the system of handling special delivery mail which, it is believed, will do away with the criticisms now heard and will make the service considerably better.

This new ruling calls for the taking of receipts for every piece of special delivery mail when it is delivered and the addressee must sign, in addition to

BOARD'S DECISION IN LOWELL CASE

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 20.—The Industrial Accident board, which heard at Lowell, May 14, the case of Charles Mehas (Mistake) employee, the Columbia Textile company, employer, and the Travelers' Insurance company insurer has made this decision: the employee received an injury to his back on Dec. 29, 1922, and was paid a compensation to March 14, 1923. He returned to work about March 1, 1923, at his usual work, which is very heavy work, and stayed about two hours when he quit because the work was too heavy for him. He has not tried to get work anywhere else and has done no other work. Compensation is awarded only up to the date of this finding, May 25, 1923, as I believe that the employee should now return to his regular work and make a substantial effort to perform it. The amount of his compensation under this finding is $33.60.

FREDERICK S. HARVEY APPOINTED MASTER

Fredrick S. Harvey has been appointed by the superior court to sit as a master in hearings on the petition brought by the Saco-Lowell Co. vs. certain members of the Moulders' union and strikers, seeking an injunction to restrain them from threatening and interfering with employees of the company.

John M. O'Donoghue had previously been appointed by the court, but was unable to serve, and Attorney Harvey was agreed upon by counsel in the case, Attorney Howard for the respondents, and Attorney Wilson for the petitioners.

Pleadings in the case must be started on or before June 26 and must be completed on or before July 23.

LOCAL INSTITUTIONS REMEMBERED IN WILL

By the will of the late Mary G. Morrison of Lowell, widow of Leonard H. Morrison and sister of Moses Greeley Parker, the Old Ladies' Home, Lowell Day Nursery and Path Home each is bequeathed $5000. The entire estate has been appraised at $20,000, including in which were 319 shares of American Tel. & Tel. Co. stock, valued at $28,294. After bequests to relatives in Woburn, Hills and Worcester, the residuary of the estate, valued at $385,398, is left to Theodore B. Parker of Lowell.

WAS CHARGED WITH ASSAULTING NIECE

Charles Frederick Hilton was arraigned in the district court this morning on a charge of feloniously assaulting his 16-year-old niece, and the case was continued until June 28, the defendant being placed in $2000 bonds. Hilton was arrested at his home, 245 Lincoln street, last night by Sergeant Winn and Officers Conroy and Morris on a warrant issued through charges by his niece.

When taken into custody, Hilton said he is 34 years of age and married. He denied the charges of assault on the niece, but has been guilty of assault on several occasions during the time she has been living with him since 1921.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HOLD HEARING

A hearing was held before the county commissioners in the court house this morning on the petition of Frank Traversy and others for the widening of Russell Mill Road in Chelmsford, from Wood's Place to the South High schoolhouse.

The petitioners told of the great danger there owing to the sharp turn in the road and the unpassable condition at times. One of the men referred to the road as nothing better than a cow-path.

The commissioners later viewed the location, and the county engineer will be instructed to draw a plan of relocation, which will be presented at a later hearing.

Bids were opened for the painting of the court house, the figures being as follows:

this time to thank you for your willing co-operation with me as a member of your board.

Very truly yours,
JOHN J. DONOVAN, Mayor.

Mr. Hogan's resignation is being keenly felt by Messrs. John J. Dwyer and Wilfred Achin, the other two members of the board as well as by Miss Marietta McGrath, chief clerk, and all the other employees of the department, for as it was stated in the office this morning during his eleven years at city hall Mr. Hogan has always been courteous and affable to all those connected with his office, and was always ready to assist whenever his assistance was needed. He is well versed in taxation matters and was always very pleasant with the employees of his department.

Mr. Hogan was elected to the board of assessors in May 1912 by Mayor O'Donnell, and Commissioners Cummings, Donnelly, Barrett and Brown. Two years ago upon the resignation of Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, he was chosen chairman of the board, position he still holds. Shortly afterwards he was appointed for a term of two years by Mayor Brown and was confirmed by the council.

have been summoned and a large number of witnesses called, as it is expected a deal of difficulty will be experienced in the selection of a jury. The case has been one of the most sensational in Canadian courts. After his arrest and indictment last year, Delorme was, after a long series of postponements, declared insane by a court of alienists and adjudged so by a jury.

Sent to an asylum he later was indicted and declared incompetent to administer his estate.

On June 11 he was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and the trial set for today.

Raoul Delorme, 24 year old student, was found shot to death on the outskirts of Montreal, Jan. 6, 1922. Bloodstains were found on the automobile of Father Delorme. Raoul, it was then learned, had taken out an insurance policy for $25,000 four days before his death at the direction of his clerical half brother, who was named sole beneficiary in his will.

QUICK ACTION BRAKES EXTRA LARGE AND EXTRA SAFE

In the construction of Dodge Brothers Motor Car, every consideration has been given to the owner's safety.

This is particularly evident in the brakes, which, with their 14-inch drums and 2 1/4 inch lining, are appreciably larger than the average. The extra surface thus provided develops greater friction when the brake bands contract over the drums—and it is this friction which stops the car.

Connecting levers are designed to transmit the maximum of power with the minimum of effort. The slightest pressure on the brake pedal has an immediate effect. This pressure is distributed evenly between the two rear wheels by a highly efficient equalizer, which prevents skidding because it retards both wheels simultaneously.

And the brake bands grip evenly all around the drums. This protects the lining against irregular wear and enables the driver to stop quickly, quietly and safely.

HUGHES URGES WORLD COURT

Secretary of State Speaker at Dartmouth College Commencement Exercises

Constitutes Tribunal With Standards That Conform to Our Highest Courts

HANOVER, N. H., June 19.—The permanent court of international justice constitutes a tribunal with standards "that conform to our highest courts," Secretary Hughes said here today, speaking at the alumni gathering in connection with commencement exercises at Dartmouth college.

"I make bold to say," Mr. Hughes said, "that the United States could today with greater satisfaction submit disputes to which it is a party to this court than to any arbitral tribunal it would be possible to set up."

Mr. Hughes applauded "the increasing interest in foreign peoples and our relations with them," now evident in the United States, but said that if this interest was not to serve merely to promote the constant enervation of propaganda of radical groups, it must have its support in a careful study of history and the understanding of other nations and their conditions which the colleges should provide.

"In our foreign relations we desire peace, security and cooperation," said the secretary. "Would that the spirit of America had one voice, one message; but there is a babel of voices, a confusion of tongues. If danger threatens us, we happily stand united; but when we are least concerned as to our own safety, we are most divided in our councils. But allowing for all the inevitable differences, it is too much to expect that we should have one controlling voice, one dominant message as to the fundamentals. We are intent on peace, and because of this the United States can never refuse its support to institutions of justice."

Two Classes of Controversies

"We recognize that there are two classes of controversies which may lead to strife. There are political controversies of national interest; of political expediency, of rival policies where there is no agreement, no recognized determining principle; no governing rule of law which may be invoked. Here we are bound to recognize the rights of other states, equal members of the family of nations as we unflinchingly insist upon our own. It was said by one of our great statesmen that the foreign policy of the United States may be described as the Monroe Doctrine and the golden rule. We shall achieve our highest aims of helpfulness when we think as much of the latter as we properly think of the former."

"Helpfulness is not mediocrity and does not rest in attempts to intrude uninvited decisions in controversies that are not ours. Our friendly offices are always available when they are welcome and can properly be given, but it must be remembered that friendship is to continue."

"But in that class of controversies where there are treaties to carry out and common accepted principles and rules of international law to apply, we have a manifest duty. That duty is to maintain the sanctity of international covenants; to aid in securing the impartial adjustment of differences; and thus to insure the adequate administration of international justice."

"It happens that at this time there exists and is functioning a permanent court of international justice, equipped with a permanent body of jurists as well qualified for their task as any judges that could be chosen men whose character and equipment permits no charge of partiality or disqualification. They constitute an independent tribunal with the standards, the tenure of office, and the equipment that conform to the standards of our highest courts. In truth, they constitute in fact as well as in name an actual court of justice."

"There is no path to the millennium other than the path of justice and it is the duty of the statesman to have the best attainable instrumentalities of justice to that extent we have the decisions of the award. The true method of promoting international accord is to seek to avert the clash of interests by agreement and to have agreements fairly interpreted and carried out."

She said she was in another room when her husband was shot and that Vandennecke after shooting her husband, fired two shots at her, but that he merely grazed her shoulder. Under cross-examination she denied having told the police that her husband had committed suicide.

Dist. Atty. William C. Clark in his opening, told the jurors that he would produce witnesses from Philadelphia who had heard Vandennecke say that he was going to Lawrence to get the woman away from her husband again and that he would kill anyone who prevented him.

COOLIDGE AT NORTON

Says Present Need of Country is Extension of Benefits of Liberal Culture

NORTON, June 19.—The present great need of this country is an extension of the direct benefits of a liberal culture, Vice President Calvin Coolidge said in an address which he made here today at a dinner at the Wheaton college commencement. He told the young women of the graduating class that the modern ideal of universal education could not be realized for a considerable length of time, and that this left "somehow of the old necessary duty of service and leadership imposed upon those who have been fortunate enough to secure the advantages of the higher institutions of learning."

One of the chief requirements of the liberal education of the present day, said the vice president, was that they should contribute to a better art of living.

"This era," he continued, "has come to be recognized as the scientific age. On this side of life the world is wildly alive and thoroughly interested. It is making larger and larger demands of the schools, of the press and of every other avenue that provides technical skill and scientific knowledge."

"Yet, when success in this direction is not secured, or being secured, it falls somehow to satisfy there is a tendency to begin to criticize our institutions and the standards of society, as though they were in some way a blame. Some times this goes so far as to advocate a complete change in the attitude of the government towards property rights. More generally this takes the form of some proposal for extended control and regulation of taxation. The fundamental purpose amounting in these proposals is said to be more equal distribution of the results of industry. Our country is an exceedingly good example of the fact that if production be encouraged and increased then distribution fairly well takes care of itself."

"It is not on this side of our life that we need to put the emphasis at the present time. We have looked to our industries. We have looked to our government. We may well let a season of adjustment and experience disclose the results of the theories which have been adopted in the past 40 years. The time appears to have arrived when we may more properly look to the people, when natural laws may well be left to supplement artificial laws. In complete freedom of action, the people themselves have a more effective remedy than can be supplied by government interference. Individual initiative in the long run is a firmer reliance than bureaucratic supervision. We do not need more government, we need more culture. We do not need more law, we need more religion."

Provincial authorities learned that gangs of hardened criminals were preying on bootleggers' caches at points along the Niagara river and Lake Ontario. Some have turned highwaymen, holding up liquor caravans and selling the rum.

Provincial officials have charged to foudlata recent bomb throwing in Hamilton and Toronto.

AMHERST, June 20.—Led by Carlisle Bolton-Smith of Memphis, Tenn., 11 members of the senior class at Amherst college, and one candidate for the degree of master of arts, refused to accept their degrees at the 162nd commencement exercises today. Despite the urging of parents and friends the 12 men filed from college hall and declared they would never accept a degree from Amherst. As Bolton-Smith ascended the platform to receive his degree he said to Dr. Meiklejohn:

DANIEL E. HOGAN RESIGNS FROM BOARD OF ASSESSORS—SENDS RESIGNATION TO MAYOR

Daniel E. Hogan, a member of the board of assessors for the past 11 years and its chairman for two years, has tendered his resignation to Mayor John J. Donovan, the resignation to take effect immediately upon the election and qualification of his successor. Mr. Hogan's reason for resigning his position is that he wishes to devote his entire time and effort to his real estate and fire insurance business.

Mr. Hogan's letter of resignation to the mayor was as follows:

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The purchase of the interest of my former partner, in the business of the late firm of Collins & Hogan, necessitates the giving of my entire time and effort to that business, which I shall thereafter carry on in my own name and on my sole and separate account.

I, therefore, tender my resignation, as a member of the board of assessors of the city of Lowell, the same to take effect immediately upon the election and qualification of my successor. With regret I leave the office, the remaining capable and efficient members of the board and the attaches therein. Their unselfish endeavor to make the success of my administration as chairman of the board I shall long retain as one of the pleasant memories of my many years at city hall.

Thanking you, Mr. Mayor, for the uniform courtesy and consideration,

DANIEL E. HOGAN

Three persons were prostrated and thousands of others suffered severely today as an intense heat wave continued to hold the city in a fiery grasp. All public schools suspended afternoon sessions and employees of the city park department were sent home at 11 a. m. for the balance of the day. Business was practically at a standstill.

At 10:30 o'clock an ambulance call was sent in for Joseph Laurier, 181 Charles street, who collapsed near the corner of Amherst and Perry streets. He was taken to the city hospital. At 12:30 the ambulance was called to the railroad station and took a woman to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was said there was no information regarding her identity as she was still in an unconscious condition.

Early this afternoon the ambulance was called to the plant of the Lowell Electric Light corporation and removed Manuel Viera of 26 North street to his home. He had been overcome while employed in construction work at the plant. His condition is not thought to be serious.

Decision to suspend afternoon sessions of the schools was reached by Superintendent Hugh J. Molloy early in the forenoon when it was seen that the heat was unusually severe in class rooms all over the city, with scores of children showing ill effects because of it.

Occasionally a lull breeze brought temporary relief, but on the whole the day was practically unbearable. It started out with a temperature of 59 degrees at 7 o'clock, or just 10 degrees higher than at the same hour yesterday morning. Hourly the mercury climbed until it reached 85, 87 and even 88 degrees at 2 o'clock. At that hour in the square, on the big thermometer on Pugs' clock, the mercury stood at 93. Although early indications were for a day hotter than yesterday, the maximum temperature was substantially the same.

It was difficult to find any relief from the heat last night, it being particularly severe in congested districts. The complaints flushed many streets and caused a little bit of heaven to hundreds of youngsters, but it was not a night conducive to restful slumber and at least half the city still was wide awake long after midnight. Today's weather forecast does not mention showers and gives no hope for immediate relief, at least.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Wesley Barry, the lad of the many freckles and the smile that never wears off, is announced for an appearance at the Merrimack Square theatre for three days beginning tomorrow afternoon in his latest picture, "Heroes of the Street." The second big feature for the week-end will be "Can a Woman Love Twice?" starring that beautiful and talented star, Ethel Clayton.

In "Heroes of the Street" Wesley is seen as a plucky boy whose bravery helps him to the things at which his grown-up superior fail. He is cast in a role that gives him unusual opportunities to reveal a side of him that was not called out in his other pictures.

tures, "Penrod," "School Days" and "Rags to Riches." In them he was a mischievous, frolicking archer, always ready for a prank; here he is all this plus a new quality that will draw more outdoor fans to his many followers among the men, women and children of this city.

Humor and pathos are said to be persistently blended in this picture, which was written by Len Parker and adapted for the screen by Edmund Gouin. It is the story of Mickey Callahan, very much Irish, as his name indicates, and showing it in the humorous battle victories over fellows of other gangs who do their best to look him and out his lucky streak. Mickey can handle them one at a time and when they come on too fast his built-in "Can-a-Woman-Love-Twice" is always ready to help him out and come back with the best.

of a pants suit. In the midst of his checkered Irish life enter a mystery and tragedy, and then Mickey changes to a serious lad out to find a certain crook and murderer.

"Can a Woman Love Twice?" does not deal with a gray-headed mother whose life is lived in the lives of her grown child or children. The story is a story of today—a girl who marries a wealthy youth just before his departure for the battle of France, and whose parents disapprove of her.

On her resources, the girl, after giving birth to a son, impatiently is persuaded to take a job to make money to support her baby. Forced out of this job she seeks the opportunity of possessing herself of the widow of a man who was killed in the war. She takes up residence with this man's father in California.

A comedy and the usual Snows picture will follow the bill.

This evening's performance of "Tumble," starring Jackie Coogan, will be a very much enjoyed. The Merrimack Square is always cool and comfortable even in the warmest weather.

SOUTHAMPTON, June 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The White Star liner Olympic sailed today for New York with wine stocks aboard for the return journey placed in a special storeroom with four seals of the British customs service on the door. The seals are placed in brass boxes which in turn are locked. The intention of the White Star line is to keep the stocks under seal all the time the ship is in American territorial waters. If the American authorities do not break the seals and confiscate the stocks, the ship's officials will open the store after the vessel has passed the three mile limit on her return voyage. The Olympic is the first vessel to adopt this procedure.

Small towns in Long Island, the federal authorities were informed, are being used by landing parties for runners playing to and from the off shore rum fleet.

"The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise"

EASY on the ears!
Irresistible to the feet! That's the kind of record Paul Specht and
His Orchestra have made in "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

It is a wondrously romantic melody, dressed in the gorgeous harmony with which Specht clothes
all his numbers; and
through it runs a fox-trot
rhythm smooth as silk,
restless as the sea.

When the final encore
has been answered, reverse this New Process
Columbia Record—
A-3870—and "Roses of Picardy," a companion fox-trot presented by this same master of symphonic syncopation, will start the dance anew.

To-day, your Columbia

MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL IN 50-50 SPLIT ON MATTER OF VETOES

Council Over-rides Veto of $7500 Transfer Order For Sanitary Improvements at Two Schools, But Votes to Sustain Mayor on His Disapproval of $9000 Order For Paving in Lawrence Street—Daly Criticizes His Honor's Financial Policy

The city council and the mayor split 50-50 last night, with most of the advantage with his Honor, however, because he did not have to sit through a session of three hours and wonder if all the best in the universe was imprisoned within the aldermanic chamber.

The even-Stephen break came in relation to majority votes on orders for improved sanitary conditions at cession to caustically criticize the mayor for refusing to allow money to be transferred from the prior revenue or surplus credit account, with a debt of back-breaking proportions already being borne. He doubted the council's soundness of the mayor's contention and bluntly said so. He likened the city to an individual and said it is not good business to borrow money for necessities when surplus cash is available.

Mr. Daly won his point on the sanitary-improvements order when the council voted 10 to 3 to over-ride the veto, but lost out on the paving question; when the mayor's disapproval was endorsed, with seven votes to sustain and six to over-ride, with two councilors absent. A two-thirds vote is necessary.

Meeting in Detail

When President Gallagher called the meeting to order Councilors McPadden, Chadwick and Casgrove were absent. Councilor Chadwick came in later.

Roll call was taken. Mr. Henry A. Daly, Jr., appeared as a petitioner to a proposed pole location in Fletcher street, opposite No. 330. He represented owners of property in that neighborhood. He said the pole already was in place, he believed. He asked it be ordered removed.

The petition was referred to the board of public service.

There were remonstrants and proponents to a petition of the Electric Light corporation for the erection of a pole in South avenue. Referred to Councilor Cameron and a representative of the petitioning corporation.

Attorney George Alford, representing property owners in 18th street, appeared in remonstrance to a petition of the N. & Tel. & Tel. Co. for the erection of five poles in that street. Miss Gilman of 18th street spoke in favor.

The petition was referred to representatives of the public service corporation involved and Councilor Frank K. Stearns of Ward 1.

No Depot At Jail

A letter was received from E. W. Brown, local passenger agent for the Boston & Maine railroad, informing the city of the decision of representatives of the company that the Lowell jail would not be suited for reconstruction into a depot and expressing regret at being forced to turn down the proposition as advanced by the city council and discussed with S. E. Miller, general passenger agent, by a special committee including Councilors Daly, Casgrove and Sadlier.

Following a favorable report by Councilor McPadden, in whom the matter has previously been referred, the council voted to approve a petition of William Bree for a gas pump in Porter street, and will await a report from the chief of the fire department before taking definite action.

Councilor Stearns recommended granting a petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for the erection of one pole in Beech street and such a recommendation accompanied the petition when it was referred to the board of public service.

Councilor Sadlier moved leave to withdraw in the matter of a petition from the Electric Light Corp. for a pole location in Lyon street, and it was so voted.

Following a favorable recommendation from Councilor Moriarty, a petition of the Electric Light Corp. for the erection of a pole in Rogers street was referred to the public service board.

Daly's Orders Under Fire

On motion of Councilor Daly the mayor's veto of the $7500 transfer order for sanitary improvements at the Moody and Seaverns street schools, was taken from the table.

Commenting upon the vetoes of the order in question and the $9000 order for paving a portion of Lawrence street, Councilor Daly said the mayor seems intent on borrowing more money for the conduct of municipal affairs when there is surplus cash to the city's credit.

"The city already is carrying all the debt burden it can bear," he declared, "and I believe it is sound economics to use money available rather than to borrow more and incur higher taxation upon the people of the city."

Councilor Genest favored the passage of the order and said he felt the work contemplated should be done during the summer vacation season when the schools are closed.

Councilor Lambert raised the question of legality and in reply Councilor Daly said the mayor has not raised the question of necessity and in his opinion, passage over the veto would be legal.

Pres. Gallagher raised the question of appropriating for a matter previously considered while compiling the annual budget, but left out in the mayor's recommendation.

Councilor Daly said he feels this is a repeat case and can be handled legally as contemplated by the transfer from the prior revenue account.

On a roll call vote the order was passed over the mayor's veto, 10 votes to three. Councilors in favor were: Daly, McPadden, Chadwick, Genest, Lambert, Stearns, Sadlier, Moriarty, Chadwick and Fitzgerald. Voting to uphold the mayor were Councilors Cameron, Gallagher and Hennessy.

With this order out of the way, Councilor Daly moved that the mayor's veto of the $9000 order for paving a portion of Lawrence street, also be taken from the table.

Councilor Daly also led the proponents of this order and urged its passage.

Councilor Chretien favored the pavement desired in Lawrence street.

but felt it was a permanent improvement and should be financed in the usual way by a loan.

Mayor's Veto Sustained

The mayor's veto was overwhelmingly sustained on a roll call vote when Councilors Gallagher, Cameron, Stearns, Genest, Chretien, Lambert and Hennessy voted against the passage of the order. The six councilors in favor of passage over the veto were: Daly, Sadlier, Fitzgerald, McPadden, Moriarty and Chadwick. Two councilors were absent.

Councilor Daly gave notice of reconsideration.

City Solicitor Patrick J. Reynolds had a communication before the council to reply to request made of him for an interpretation of Section 33 Chapter 44 of the General Laws as it applies to the legality of the council's action in passing the $10,000 additional police order over the mayor's veto. The law department had quoted at some length from a decided supreme court case concerning the city of Taunton and could not find that the council was within its rights in voting an appropriation for something that already had been considered and turned down during annual budget deliberations and subsequent recommendations. The latter was read and placed on file.

Taaffaras Matter Discussed

Mayor John J. Donovan replied to the request forwarded him on motion of Councilor Sadlier that he explain how he justified the reappointment of Patrolman Peter Taaffaras with his previous statement about not being willing to approve larger payrolls for the police department.

The communication stated that Taaffaras was reappointed to the regular force on recommendation of the superintendent of police and that his salary will be paid out of the original appropriation of the department.

Councilor Sadlier made hot reply to the mayor's letter, declaring the officer in question was reappointed on the mayor's recommendation instead of the police superintendent's. He said the reappointment of this officer prevents young men from becoming patrolmen and makes it more difficult for a supernumerary officer to reach the regular force.

"The police department is badly in need of more men," declared the Ward 4 councilor, "and the sooner the mayor reaches it, the better for him."

The order appropriating $2500 to the elections department to care for increased salaries for election commissioners was read, but no action taken. On motion of Councilor Sadlier the council voted to meet again next Tuesday night, at which time it is planned to settle the elections department controversy.

The council acted favorably upon a resolution introduced by Councilor Fitzgerald, by which the body went on record as being opposed to the removal of the veterans' bureau sub-station from Lawrence to Boston. It was voted to forward a copy of the resolution to Director-General Hines, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Washington, D. C.

President James J. Gallagher and Councilor Frank K. Stearns entertained for half an hour with interest-

The Health Doctor Says:

Anything rubbed by contact with many hands is a menace to health. There is protection—constant use of Lifebuoy Soap which really purifies the skin.

"If they could always be safe from dirt"

Freshly rubbed, the soft flush of slumber glowing against snowy linen—wouldn't it be wonderful if your babies were always as safe—never exposed to the menace of dirt?

Yet tomorrow they will touch and tangle a hundred dangerously dirty things—stray animals, unclean playmates, the fruit of peddlers. Dirty hands carry these dangers to nose, mouth and food. Germ laden street dust will grind into chubby knees and palms.

How can you—the mother—the "Health Doctor"—guard these precious lives?

In just one way—by keeping them clean—scientifically clean.

Lifebuoy Purifies

And please don't mistake mere perfumed daintiness for the honest, wholesome, pore cleansing purity that results from vigorous use of Lifebuoy Health Soap. Lifebuoy

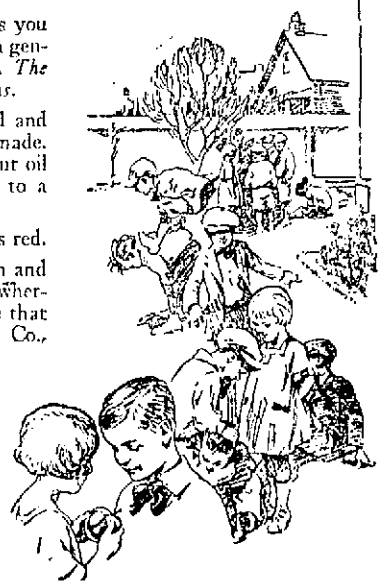

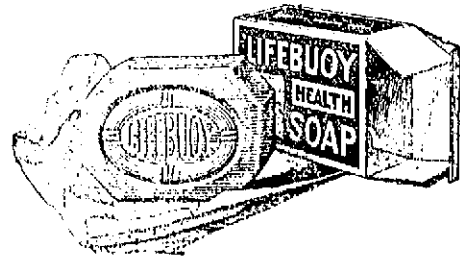

does more than remove surface grime. Its rich, creamy lather releases a wonderful antiseptic ingredient which is carried down deep into every pore, combating the health foes ever present in dirt.

The pungent odor of Lifebuoy tells you that it is more than soap—that it is a genuine health protector—a skin purifier. The odor vanishes but the protection remains.

Yet Lifebuoy is as pure and bland and skin beautifying as any soap ever made. Its pure oil of palm fruit and coconut oil are soothing and healing, especially to a baby's petal skin.

Palm fruit oil is red, so Lifebuoy is red.

For the protection of your children and husband, place a cake of Lifebuoy wherever there is running water—and see that it is used frequently. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

OPEN FIRE ON PASTOR'S HOME

Four Priests and a Lay Official of Engleberg, Ark., Church Wounded

Mysterious Shotgun Attack After Church Conference and Social Affair

POCAHONTAS, Ark., June 20.—Four priests and a lay official of the Engleberg Catholic church, near here, were wounded in a mysterious shotgun attack in the home of one of the priests Monday night, after a church conference was concluded with a social affair.

Burton Knott, 20, of the Engleberg neighborhood, is in jail here where he was brought by deputy sheriffs, shortly after the shooting. His companion, Henry Daniels, who, with Knott and Daniels' younger brother, was suspected of being a member of the party which fired into the pastor's home was released on $200 bond to await preliminary hearing. The younger Daniels was released shortly after his arrest.

Joe Bruner, lay official of the Engleberg church and the most severely injured of the five, is in a Jonesboro hospital where his numerous wounds are being treated. The four priests who were struck by the gunfire are: Father Herringer, Engleberg, pastor.

Father Strausner, of Jonesboro. Father Hoffinger of Paragould. Father Froitzheim of Pocahontas. A fusillade of shots splintered the house entering the window and striking the men who were gathered around a table checking reports received at the church conference.

Paul Manship, American sculptor, recently finished a bust of Mary Pickford.

Before You Sleep

Go get this free tube and use it
Then watch it combat the film on teeth

This is to people who are missing benefits which millions now enjoy.

There is a new way of teeth cleaning. It is used by careful people of some 80 nations, largely by dental advice.

It means whiter, prettier teeth, better tooth protection. It means fighting the teeth's enemies more effectively.

Your dealer will give you a ten-day test. Go ask him for it. Test this new method now.

Don't leave that film

You can feel on your teeth a viscous film. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush, used in old ways, has left much of it intact. That's why so many had dingy teeth, decay and other troubles.

Food stains, etc., discolor film. Then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. That is why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That was almost universal.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. And that became alarmingly common.

Their greatest enemy

Film was the teeth's chief enemy. Very few escaped its harm. So dental science long sought ways to fight it. Eventually two ways were found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was perfected to apply them twice a day. That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Now it has come into world-wide use, largely by dental advice.

New in several ways

Pepsodent brings other new effects which research proves essential. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Old-time tooth pastes brought just opposite effects. They reduced these natural tooth-protecting agents.

Pepsodent

The New-Day Dentifrice

A scientific tooth paste based on modern research, free from harmful grit. Now advised by dentists the world over, because of its unique effects.

You see them everywhere

Look about you. Note how teeth now glisten — teeth which once were dim. Mark how much those glistening teeth add to beauty and to charm.

Those whiter teeth come from fighting film. And they mean safer teeth as well. This delightful test will show you how to get them.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

NEW PARKING LIGHT LAW

Lowell motorists are reminded that a new parking light law becomes effective next month. Some of our very best citizens who "drive their own" may have overlooked the commonwealth's latest admonition about the motor car.

On July 30, motor drivers will be allowed to park their cars and shut off their headlights at night, provided they have a parking light showing on their cars. The legislature amended the light laws making this permissible.

At the same time, it is not a mandatory law, for no driver will be required to equip a car with a parking light. That may help some, for more than one automobile owner and out-going rumber has felt for some time that the state was sort of picking upon motor car proprietors to a rather annoying extent in the way of motor-car regulations for this and that. Brother Goodwin, who never sleeps, informs us, however, that the new parking light law is for those "who wish to equip a car with the necessary outfit. If the new lights are not installed, the headlights must be kept burning. Many owners of motor vehicles have already equipped them with the smaller lights, as is well known.

The old theory that a car may be left on a side street at night with lights out, is no longer fashionable, for the supreme court some time ago decided that all cars at night, if parked anywhere on a highway, are compelled to have their headlights burning and the rear red light shining. Night spooners would do well to remember that the new parking light, if used, must show on the side nearest the center of the road. And it must be a white light.

NASHUA THE RECALCITRANT

Boldly the municipality of Nashua defies the powers that control the great state-at-large. On Monday daylight saving went into effect and many a Nashuan's clock was set one hour ahead to conform with the daylight saving law now in force in this state. The aldermen of Nashua several times defeated the daylight saving proposition, but finally decided to adopt it.

Nashuans have been asked to set their clocks ahead and keep them there until Sept. 30 next. It is now the only community in New Hampshire to adopt daylight saving and expressly against the will of the people-at-large, at that, for the New Hampshire legislature voted heavily against daylight saving, and because several cities favored the Massachusetts method of obtaining an extra hour of daylight in the summer months, voted to punish all communities who violated the legislative mandate.

But there is a joker attached to the New Hampshire regulation, and Nashuans are swinging along the municipal line with all sorts and all smiles for putting something over on the "up-staters." For although there is a so-called fine of $500 for breaking standard time, the find would have to come through the municipal court, unless taken to the higher court, and that would mean that Nashua would pay the fine into the municipal court, which later would turn the money into the state treasury. As Nashuans are now calling it, taking money out of one pocket and putting into another.

PARTRIDGES INCREASING

Members of the Lowell Fish and Game association inform us—and they are not the only ones to do so, by the way—that the number of partridges in Massachusetts and nearby states, notably New Hampshire, has grown rapidly during the past five years under the protection of the increased interest from sportsmen's clubs.

During the past two or three years, tilters of the soil have complained freely of the heavy damage done to various crops by the partridge. An untold quantity of apple buds, for instance, has been eaten in the last months of winter by partridges, who are fast becoming fond of apple tree "meats." Never before have partridges been known to subsist extensively upon fruit buds, until recent years. Farmers claim the partridges, as well as other wild game, have acquired the taste for the tender buds, and particularly like them and make ravages on farm and fruit trees when the snow has heavily upon the buds and other tidbits are covered.

Last year both in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, partridges and great damage to apple trees by gnawing on the bud shoots, destroying, of course, the glowing prospects of fall harvests that many farmers depend upon to swell their bank accounts. The result of this havoc on the part of increasing swarms of partridges has thoroughly aroused farmers and fruit-growers, and there are chances of a growing breach between the tilters of the soil and the sportsmen, unless the latter come to the prompt aid of the former and distribute some of their hoarded and well known benevolence in the proper direction.

THAT AMOSKEAG SHUT-DOWN

Information dribbling sparsely from the headquarters of the Amoskeag Mills corporation, Manchester, N. H., indicates that future conditions in the cotton textile industry in the New Hampshire city are anything if not stable and assuring. The recent announcement by Amoskeag that the cotton department would shut down on June 29 next, for a period of two weeks, is not an alarming statement, for does indicate any grace on the part of the Manchester corporation to curtail production extensively.

As a matter of fact, The Sun is informed that this two weeks' vacation for the cotton machinery operators simply takes the place of the annual

SEEN AND HEARD

Miss Wayne of Portland, Ore., can stand on her head 14 minutes. Girls will be boys.

These are the days the permanent waves meet the wild waves, leaving only the permanent warts.

Mrs. Thomas Poulter appeared before a London court, seeking a separation from her husband, a miner. He attended court carrying a baby on each arm. Case continued.

Folks along the Kennebec river were startled to see a neat little cottage with all and piazza coming up river on a lighter. In tow of a small power launch, Charles Nichols of Augusta used this method to move his cottage a distance of 5 miles.

Armed policemen rushed to the office of a Boston, O. trust company when a burglar alarm was sounded. Search revealed that the safe and the equipment in the bank were intact. A woman had built her nest in the mechanism of the alarm device and accidentally set it in motion.

A Thought

Of all sins is not, for a man, repentance the most divine? The greatest of faults is to be conscious of none.—Carlyle.

The Japanese Idol

A near-sighted old lady entered a large drug shop and after pottering around inquired: "Where much is that big Japanese idol by the door worth?" "A great deal," replied the assistant. "That's the proprietor."

There Seldom Is

A particularly small but very dapper man was walking between two fashionably attired girls along Grand avenue. At the corner of a side street they happened to pass two newsboys who looked at them sharply and grinned. To the obvious embarrassment of the girls' escort, one of the boys said: "Ain't much ham in the sandwich is there, BUH?"—Los Angeles Times.

Unnecessary Disclosure

A young woman was troubled with a boil on her knee, which grew so bad that she thought it necessary to call in a doctor. She disliked the family physician, so her father suggested several others and finally said he would call in another doctor who passed the house every day. They kept a sharp lookout for him, and when he came along he was called in. The young woman modestly showed him the disabled member. The little man looked at it and said: "Why, that's pretty bad." "Well, she said, 'what must I do?'" "If I were you," he said, "I would send for a doctor. I'm a piano tuner."

Hat and Cheese

"Can't I help patch up the quarrel between you and Phylis?" What has he done?" asked the arbitrator. "Well, I hear he has been calling me some ugly names," explained the other. "What names?" asked the friend. "I don't know." The mutual friend said he would go and find out and come back with a report. He came back, and said: "To this day I can't repeat what he knew. 'Well, what did he call me?' inquired the party of the first part. 'He called you a rat,' the other man said, unwillingly. 'Called me a rat, did he? Then let him look out—the big piece of cheese.'"

Wife's Little Secret

Once on a time in the United States a youngster ran into the house to his mother carrying a beaded bag. The child said he had found the bag in the automobile which his father had been driving the night before. It was a strange bag. It contained a sum of money. The wife took the money, called a woman friend and the two had a theatre party, dinner, candy and a good time generally, with plenty of money and much fun. To this day the maid in the household carries a beautiful beaded bag given to her by her mistress. The husband does not know there ever was such a beaded bag and whoever lost it, but then that is something else again.—Indianapolis News.

Dining Under Compulsion

Two farmers, Smith and Brown, had adjoining farms. Brown had just moved in and did not know his neighbor. Going over his farm he discovered a cow eating his corn and not knowing it was Smith's he let her eat it. Smith, hearing the shot, rushed out, and upon discovering his dead cow he picked up Brown's gun and forced him to eat a few mouthfuls of the corn. When he thought he had punished Brown sufficiently, he told Brown the story and said they would call it square. Brown immediately picked up the gun and compelled Smith to eat the same amount of corn. The next day the two met at the home of a third neighbor, who remarked: "I suppose you two gentlemen are acquainted?" "Yes," replied Brown, "we dined together yesterday." Burlington Hawkeye.

A Londoner one day while waiting for the city train. At dawn he said: "I said, 'Come take a stroll with me. The day is just the best.' I said he, 'And I will wait an instant if you check my bag.' 'Your trip,' he said."

A service station first passed was "Glad," remarked, "I could be a dairyman, went lumbering by. 'A man's got to be in luck and I'm a lumberman over what had been a station on the road.' Then when I offered a drink, I said, 'I'll give you a drink, I'll give you a drink, I'll give you a drink.' Then he said, 'I'll give you a drink, I'll give you a drink, I'll give you a drink.'"

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It is no easy task, according to Court Officer Matt McCann, taking prisoners from the local guard-house to the state farm in Bridgewater. You will probably agree with him after perusing the following itinerary: From Market street to the Municipal Street Depot, to Boston, across the city via elevated to the South station, wait 15 minutes to make connections, 32 miles to Bridgewater, and finally the state farm. Besides the monotony of this journey to one making it several times a month there are the various whims of the prisoners with which to contend. The return home, all by one's self, is much more pleasant, thank you.

With the reopening of the municipal bath-house, it is to be hoped that drowning fatalities will be at a minimum this season. Each succeeding year witnesses one or more water accidents due principally to the indiscretion of youngsters in selecting their bathing places. Competent life guards are stationed at the municipal pool, and parents should encourage their children to patronize this and no other section of the Merrimack, and also speak a stern warning against swimming in canals.

LADIES BANQUETED BY DRAMATIC CLUB

A dinner in honor of the ladies of the cast in "The Witching Hour" was tendered by the dramatic club of the Knights of Columbus in Mario's restaurant last evening, and notwithstanding a terrific atmosphere, hardly conducive to indoor gatherings, it was a delightful affair indeed. A feast fit for the kings was served at 7 o'clock, followed by a happy program of songs, stories and speeches. Mrs. E. Brander Shepard and Miss Lillian Chaloux were guests of honor at the affair and enjoyed the fun.

Mr. Daniel S. O'Brien, chairman of the dramatic committee, was toastmaster and with his accustomed grace, presided over the affair admirably. Thomas J. Beane, director of the show, was quite appreciative of the work of the dramatic club and spoke at length on the part played by each individual in bringing the affair to a successful climax. There were songs by Thomas Delmore, Timothy Finnegan, Mrs. Alice Dacey Delmore, Daniel S. O'Brien, William Howard and Edw. F. Slocum. The readings by Miss Mary Casey, Miss Hilda Noonan, James B. Coughlin and William F. Thornton. Remarks were made by Edward W. Gallinger, Charles J. Landers, Joseph Duffy, Eugene Fontaine, Charles P. Smith and John T. Burns. There were choruses, and between the courses many little incidents in connection with preparations for the play, were brought out. It was about 10 o'clock when the affair was brought to a close. Miss Lillian Chaloux was the toastmaster and Charles J. Landers, accompanist and the arrangements for

TROOPS CALLED TO HALT MOB

One Man Killed and Many
Wounded When Mob
Stormed Savannah Jail

Negro Charged With Attack
on White Woman Under
Heavy Guard

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—One man was killed and an unknown number wounded early today when a crowd of more than 2000 persons assembled about the jail where Walter Lee, negro youth, charged with an attack upon a white woman, is guarded. State guardsmen, mounted machine gunners firing their rifles in the air, cowed the mob after appeals of officers and streams of water from high pressure fire hose failed to disperse the assemblage.

O. Claude Parker, Jr., the man killed, was shot in the abdomen as the mob closed in on the jail. George Hart was seriously wounded, and Chief of Police Hendry was struck by a brick.

The mob formed at midnight when word spread that Lee was being held in the city jail. Sheriff Merritt W. Dixon tried to disperse the gathering and firing, but city firemen turn water on the mob from six lines of hose. The mob retaliated by hurling bricks at the firemen.

Meanwhile the troops were called out by Mayor Seabrooks. A detachment of machine gunners took position and there was some firing from rifles when a section of the mob closed in. The guardsmen then pushed the crowd back two squares from the jail, and shortly afterward the crowd dispersed.

Lava Stream Wipes Out Towns

In the background is Mt. Etna, now a roaring furnace of destruction pouring forth five streams of fiery lava thousands of feet wide and 40 feet high, rendering nearly 100,000 inhabitants of Sicily homeless. Ten townships with homes, such as those shown in the foreground, have been totally destroyed.

KING RUSHES TO STRICKEN AREA

Italian Monarch Refuses to Take Rest on Way Southward to Catania

Received Radio Messages
Throughout Night on Progress of Mt. Etna Eruption

ROME, June 20.—(By the Associated Press.) King Victor Emmanuel, speeding southward to Catania, received throughout the night telegrams and radio messages reporting the progress of Mount Etna's eruption. The monarch refused to take rest and issued instructions to intensify the relief work in the stricken area. He also sent words of encouragement to the authorities who are endeavoring to aid the refugees.

Premier Mussolini, hurrying to Rome from Palermo, sent word that the entire heart of the nation and all the forces of the Italian race were outstretched to Sicily whose noble people have been tried so frequently to such catastrophes.

Red Cross Units Active

CATANIA, Italy, June 20.—(By the Associated Press.) Some of the latest reports from the countryside stricken by Mount Etna's eruption give rise to the hope that the fury of the mountain may have passed its period of greatest intensity. However, the situation is generally regarded here as being practically unchanged with the mighty stream of lava bearing slowly but inevitably upon Linguaglossa.

During the silent night of the crater was enlivened by a renewal of the terrible convulsions. The lava has now submerged the station at Corno and blocks the road between Castiglione and Linguaglossa.

The quantity of ashes emitted by the crater is now more abundant than ever. It resembles gray fine powder, covering everything, penetrating everywhere, and burying the entire landscape under a powdery blanket.

One by one the little towns that cling to the mountain's outermost flanks have been evacuated, their inhabitants fleeing with such of their household possessions as they can carry. However, the roads to the towns more remote from Etna are strewn with the possessions of fleeing villagers, who weakened by fear and by the heat, have been compelled to abandon their treasures. Thousands of homeless refugees are already being cared for by Red Cross units.

ANNUAL REUNION AT THE MANNING MANSE

The old Manning Manse in Billerica threw open its doors and welcomed those of Manning blood at the 21st annual reunion of the Manning Association Monday afternoon. And the Mannings came in all sorts of contraptions, in autos and on foot.

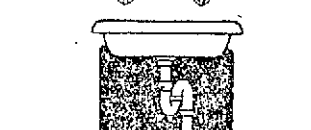

It was a great reunion. Lunch was served in the old barn, more of a museum than a barn with its remnants on the walls of the days of oxen and saddle bags. The lunch was prepared by Mrs. Carrie Knowles and served by Mrs. Edwin Maxwell and Mrs. Louise Howard.

The Collier orchestra rendered music for dancing during the afternoon. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

HAD LUNCH AT HIGH SCHOOL CAFETERIA

A luncheon was served last evening in the cafeteria of the new high school building to the principals of the local grammar, primary and continuation schools. Miss J. Melloy, headmaster, Henry H. Harris and Submaster Frederick R. Woodward of the high school by the home economics department of the school.

The purpose of the affair was to show the guests what the students of the school may have for luncheon every day and the courses served last night were made up of articles exactly the same as those served at the recesses and at the close of school.

The affair was under the direction of Miss Susie G. Driscoll, supervisor of the home economics course and she was assisted by Mrs. Catherine Keefe, Miss Josephine Tamulky, Mrs. Mary M. Lynch and Mrs. Mary T. Lynch. At the close of the luncheon, Miss Driscoll was complimented highly on the quality of the food served and the variety offered.

HANDLING SPECIAL DELIVERY MAIL

The postoffice department has recently ordered a change in the system of handling special delivery mail which, it is believed, will do away with the criticisms now heard and will make the service considerably better.

This new ruling calls for the taking of receipts for every piece of special delivery mail when it is delivered and the addressee must sign, in addition to this name, the time that the delivery is effected. This will do away with the complaints that the special delivery carriers hold mail for hours without delivering it and will also allow the clerk in the postoffice in charge of this matter to keep a definite check on his carriers.

This new ruling is, with but few exceptions, but a resumption of the rule that was in force up to a few years ago and the first assistant postmaster-general, in issuing this order, stated that "this is in pursuance of sound business judgment."

Postmaster Xavier A. Deline is strongly in favor of this new ruling and has always considered the method now in effect of delivering special delivery matter without obtaining delivery receipts to be poor business. The new ruling will go into effect on July 1st and every person receiving special delivery mail must sign a receipt or the mail will not be delivered.

BOARD'S DECISION IN LOWELL CASE

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, June 20.—The Industrial Accident board, which heard at Lowell, May 14, the case of Charles Meheas (Meheas) employee, the Columbia Textile company, employer, and the Travelers' Insurance company insurer has made this decision: The employee received an injury to his back on Dec. 29, 1922, and was paid a compensation to March 14, 1923. He returned to work about March 1, 1923, at his usual work, which is very heavy work, and stayed about two hours when he quit because the work was too heavy for him. He has not tried to get work anywhere else and has done no other work. Compensation is awarded only up to the date of this finding, May 25, 1923, as I believe that the employee should now return to his regular work and make a substantial effort to perform it. The amount of his compensation under this finding is $58.50.

A hearing was held before the county commissioners in the court house this morning on the petition of Frank Traversy and others for the widening of Russell Hill Road in Chelmsford from Wood's Place to the South Row schoolhouse.

The petitioners told of the great danger there owing to the sharp turn in the road and the impassable condition at times. One of the men referred to the road as nothing better than a cow-path.

The commissioners later viewed the location, and the county engineer will be instructed to draw a plan of relocation, which will be presented at a later hearing.

QUICK ACTION BRAKES
EXTRA LARGE AND EXTRA SAFE

In the construction of Dodge Brothers Motor Car, every consideration has been given to the owner's safety.

This is particularly evident in the brakes, which, with their 14-inch drums and 2 1/4 inch lining, are appreciably larger than the average. The extra surface thus provided develops greater friction when the brake bands contract over the drums—and it is this friction which stops the car.

Connecting levers are designed to transmit the maximum of power with the minimum of effort. The slightest pressure on the brake pedal has an immediate effect. This pressure is distributed evenly between the two rear wheels by a highly efficient equalizer, which prevents skidding because it retards both wheels simultaneously.

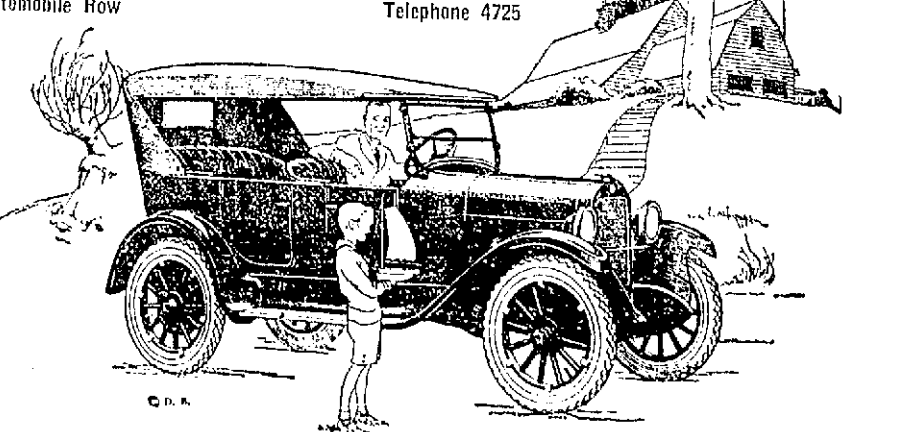

And the brake bands grip evenly all around the drums. This protects the lining against irregular wear and enables the driver to stop quickly, quietly and safely.

BOY SCOUT DRIVE IS ON WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Campaign to Raise $7200 to Carry on Scout Work is Underway

The Lowell council of Boy Scouts of America need $7200 to carry on their work for the year ending May 31, 1924, and a drive is already underway to get this amount.

Those in charge of the drive make an appeal on behalf of the youngsters, whose motto is "Do a good turn daily." Lowell people are asked to adopt this motto and make their "daily good turn" today a contribution to this work. A contribution entitles one to an associate membership in the council.

The officials of the drive are confident that it will go over the top, as Lowell has never been found wanting in matters of this kind. Checks may be mailed to the treasurer, Charles E. Langley, 7 Merrimack street, and a receipt will be returned.

The membership in the Boy Scouts has made a big increase from 78 on January 1, to 300 scouts at the present time, with applications already filed from 200 more. The Lowell council is really doing a splendid work among the boys and is deserving of patronage.

The officers of the council are: John H. Lambert, M.D., president; Frank D. Proctor, vice president; Royal P. White, Benjamin S. Pouzner, Xavier A. Delisle, vice presidents; Charles F. Langley, treasurer; Edwin J. McNeil, scout executive; Luther W. Faulkner, scout commissioner; Albert R. Thurston, deputy commissioner.

Executive board: Herford N. Elliott, Hon. Edward Fisher, Charles D. A. Grasse, Hon. John C. Leggat, Elmore I. MacPhie, Robert F. Marden, John M. O'Donoghue, Edward F. Saunders, George H. Stevens.

Amherst Men Refuse Degrees

Under ordinary circumstances there is nothing I would rather do than to receive a degree at your hands, but in the present circumstances, in view of the action of the trustees, I consider that to accept a degree would be an act of disloyalty to Amherst, the liberal college."

After ordering Andrew R. Cooper to pay a fine of $10 in the district court this morning for failure to regulate the reflection of his headlights, Judge Enright said that "dazzling lights were the worst things on the road and I'm glad a crusade has been started against them." Cooper was one of five defendants to receive fines at today's session for violations of the motor vehicle law. He was arrested on the Pawtucket boulevard last night by Eugene Lounard of the highway commission and Motorcycle Officer Murphy.

Others summoned into court by the officers on the boulevard last night were Albert W. Fraser, Louis Cyr, John Economou and Sebastian Barrette, each of whom were ordered to pay a fine of $5 for operating an automobile without a rear light showing.

Edward Martin, charged with assault and battery on a 13-year-old girl, was ordered committed to the house of correction for one week in order to sober up.
